Stairs connect living spaces ... in a traditional wooden house just as much as in a prestigious Villa or office building.

AS FLOATING AS IT CAN GET

WOOD AND GLASS

Fine engineering makes it possible to support treads with glass on two sides to make the treads look like floating in the air.

The classic combination of wood and glass is timeless and creates master pieces which never get old.

MISTRAL HAWAII

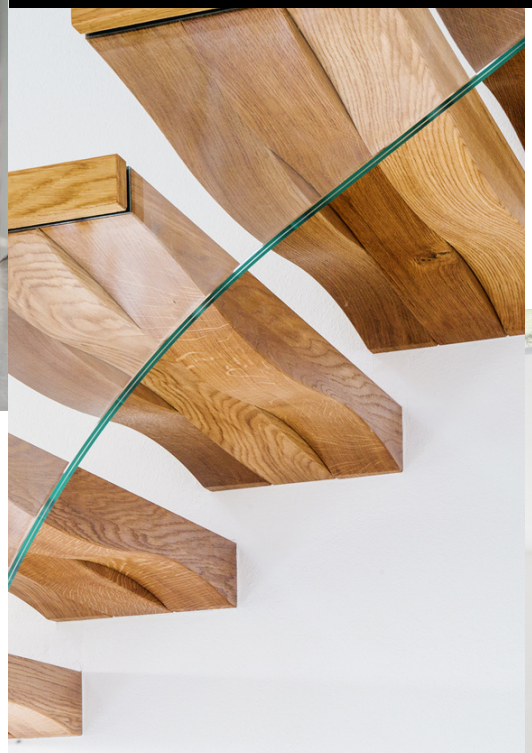

Stairs connect living spaces ... in a traditional wooden house just as much as in a prestigious Villa or office building.

FLOATING WAVES

WOOD AND GLASS

The underside of the treads show those waves to give it a special appealing.
Wavy glass railings round the design up.

The Floating Waves design is a variation of our structural glass stair with special wooden treads.

FLOATING WAVES

You cannot only see stairs but also sense, hear and feel them.
Even on the first step you notice wheather you are walking comfortably

ZIG ZAG

IN EVERY SHAPE

Innovative ideas and manufacturing tecniques drive us to get the most out of the materials we use to build stairs

This all glass staircase has illuminated glass treads and the electrical wires are hidden within the glass itself.

ZIG ZAG DESIGNS

Does the stair creak softly under your feet? Does the handrail feel comfortable and warm? Only quality transforms a staircase into a pleasant experiance.

ZIG ZAG BALUSTRADE
